

Executive Memo: Q1 2026 Performance

Overview: Our primary goal this quarter was transitioning to a RAG-based AI architecture. This required a one-time Hardware investment of $12,000 in February for local dev environments, which explains the temporary dip in net liquidity.

Marketing Strategy: We shifted our focus in March toward LinkedIn Ads. While this increased our Marketing Spend significantly (reaching $2,300 in a single month), it resulted in our highest-ever SaaS revenue of $11,000.

Infrastructure: Cloud costs rose by 22% in March due to the deployment of high-performance GPU clusters needed for model training. We expect these costs to stabilize in Q2.
